The Pentagon is planning to build a billion dollar radar system called the Homeland Defense Radar –Hawaii (HDR-H) on Oahu, Hawaii, as a part of the US Missile Defense system. A preliminary Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) names two possible locations for the 8-story-tall-by-8-story-wide radar station that would take up approximated 160-acres of land: Kuaokala Ridge, adjacent to the Kaena Point Satellite Tracking Station (KPSTS) or in the Kahuku Training Area (KTA) on the North shore. The final EIS is due in 2020 with construction slated to begin in 2021.

Hear about the Golden Rule, an anti-nuclear Peace Boat restored by Veterans for Peace and sailing through Hawaii and the Pacific on a mission of Peace. Presentation by Helen Jaccard, director of the VFP Golden Rule Project.
